Dr. Ryan Salzman, Assistant Professor in the Political Science and Criminal Justice Department, joined the department at NKU in Fall 2012. He earned an undergraduate degree in Political Science from Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, Texas in 2003. He completed his Doctorate of Philosophy in Political Science at the University of North Texas in Denton, Texas in 2011. Dr. Salzman's teaching areas include comparative politics, Latin American politics, and democracy.

Dr. Salzman's research focuses primarily on news media and political behavior in Latin America. He has also published work centered on media and Latino politics in the United States as well as various aspects of political behavior and democracy in Latin America. You can find his work on attitudes related to the judicial systems of Latin America in a forthcoming issue of Latin American Politics & Society. Additional information about Ryan Salzman's research can be found on his website, www.ryanwsalzman.com.